PONTIAC BEACH — "We are pleading for anyone who went into Huck's between 4 and 5 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 22, and has not been interviewed to please contact us at 931-0660," said Police Chief Chet Ballew Thursday.

"We are still running leads, but we need all the help we can get," Ballew said.

He was speaking of the ongoing investigation into the fatal beating of Nancy J. Bennett, a night clerk at Huck's Convenience Store, 4086 Pontoon Road.

Bennett, 28, the mother of two young sons, was found lying behind the store counter shortly before 5 a.m. Oct. 22. About $100 was missing from the cash register.

"If anyone drove by the store on Pontoon Road or went inside during that time and has not yet been contacted by us, we hope they will give us a call," the police chief said.

"It could be somebody who drove that way only once a month and may have seen something which doesn't seem important or mean anything to them," said Ballew.

"But, it may mean something to us when put together with other information," he added.

A $5,000 reward is being offered by Huck's Corp. for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Mrs. Bennett's murderer, Ballew said.

Funding for hemophiliacs falls short in Illinois House

By Jack C. Ventimiglia

GRANITE CITY — Financial assistance for hemophiliacs, including Jason Robertson, 7, was denied Friday in the Illinois House.

A three-fifths majority was needed to override the governor's veto of hemophilia funding. The vote was 67-45-2, four votes short of the required 71.

Part of House bill 792 was an appropriation of $539,000 that would have helped approximately 100 hemophiliacs buy blood products.

The news shocked Jason Robertson's mother, Tammie Robertson, who said she expected the House to pass the bill. She does not know how the family will be able to afford the approximately $12,000 needed annually to purchase blood products.

"If Jason was a murderer, or a rapist, or a thief, then our state would be obligated to take care of Jason's medical needs," Tammie Robertson said, adding that if she divorced her husband the state would pay for the boy's blood products. "It tells me something's terribly wrong with our system."

Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, said Friday that money for hemophiliacs is part of Senate bill 1520, which includes more than $30 million for education.

"I think there's a good chance that the $539,000 will be provided in one way or another, but that's no guarantee," Wolf said.

Tammie Robertson said she'd hoped the rest of the House would have been as supportive as Wolf.

"I sure am disappointed," she said. "What it means is it doesn't leave us much of a choice. I have to face financial destruction or I divorce my husband — it's that simple. Jason has to have his blood products."

"I don't know what I'll do," she said. "Funding for hemophiliacs was approved by Gov. James Thompson on July 20 as part of his statewide budget cuts."

Partney upset with letter sent to District 9 parents

GRANITE CITY — School Board member David Partney is upset about a letter sent to District 9 parents concerning plans for and staffing of a portable classroom for Jason Robertson, 7, who has the AIDS virus.

The letter was sent to "rectify erroneous information which may have been disseminated" about the classroom.

Media accounts concerning the portable classroom have been accurate, Partney said. He said he doesn't know how or where any rumors about the classroom could have started.

Superintendent Gib Walmesley said some rumors were heard "on the street."

"We wanted to be sure our people knew what we were doing," he said.

Walmesley said media reports have been accurate, except for one television report that said Jason was going to be put in a classroom at Prather Elementary School. The portable classroom is located at the new Logan Elementary School, next to Prather.

Partney, who has children attending district schools, received a copy of the letter Friday, he said. He said the parents who have been concerned about the portable classroom are those with children attending Prather.

"I cannot see the letter going out to all the parents in the district's 8,300 students will cost between $2,500 and $3,000," Partney said. This includes postage, paper, printing and labor costs, he said.

"I didn't authorize, as a board member, this expenditure," Partney said.

United Way office, Coordinated Youth, the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Community Home, the Educational Therapy Center, the Boy Scouts of America Chokoma Mount Council, the Salvation Army, Venice Lincoln Technical Center, Protestant Welfare Association and Madison County Urban League, Taylor said.

Seniors work as custodians, office assistants and teachers' aides, among other jobs, she said. For example, two senior aides at Protestant Welfare assist in the distribution of clothing to needy persons, Taylor said.

The seniors aren't paid by the agencies, but through money provided to the Senior Aides program.

Candidates raise funds for election

GRANITE CITY — More than $3,000 in campaign contributions have been raised by 10 of the 13 candidates running for the District 9 School Board.

Candidates and the amounts they have raised are:

Ray Koberna — $1,650. The money was raised through a raffle of items from his store, Hobby Hut, he said.

Robert Douglas — approximately $500. The money was raised through individual donations of less than $100, coming from friends and supporters, he said.

Dewey Melton, incumbent — less than $500.

Robert Bell — $200.

Debbie Holt-Walkerson — $100.

Mack Johnson — $80. He said $50 came from his parents and the rest from friends. Some expenses he paid himself, he said.

Paul Ray Bowler, Gus Falter, Rose Schager and Beverly Schutzenhofer said they're using their own money to finance their campaigns.

"I'm running this campaign on my own," Bowler said. "I'm not beholden to anyone."

The amount of money raised by Kelly Hogan, Jo Ann Macios and Marty LeVault, who are pooling campaign funds, is unknown.

Efforts to reach Hogan and Macios for comment Friday were unsuccessful.

LeVault didn't know how much money has been raised by the three, he said Friday. A campaign committee meeting was held last week, but finances were not discussed, LeVault said.

Volunteers prepare for worst

GRANITE CITY — A rare tornado unexpectedly cuts a path of destruction through Granite City.

Essential services come to a standstill because there is no electric power.

The Granite City Civil Defense team brings its generators, lights and other equipment where the equipment is most needed. Power is temporarily restored.

The city's volunteer Civil Defense crew is prepared to go into action under such conditions, said Art Probert, a CD officer.

The CD department held an open house after Tuesday's City Council meeting and showed off its emergency equipment to aldermen and city officials.

A 10,000-watt generator, one of four small and large generators, lighted powerful lamps in front of the CD building at 1411 19th Street. The building, which was Granite City's first fire station, is where the CD department keeps its four large trucks and heavy equipment.

The generators are very portable and are equipped with long extension cords.

"A lot of people don't know what we've got here in this town," said Probert, referring to the city's CD equipment.

The equipment was used in the aftermath of the city's 1983 tornado, which damaged Crossroads Shopping Center.

A list of names tacked up on the wall of the second floor — tells the story of emergency preparedness in Granite City. Thirty-three volunteers have so far put in 2,823 hours this year in emergency training and services.

The volunteers meet every Tuesday for emergency drills and receive a variety of police training.

Sell or lease old Logan, maintain new Logan, superintendent says

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — Selling or leasing the old Logan Elementary School and maintaining the new Logan School as a storage area was recommended by District 9 Superintendent Gib Walmesley.

The recommendation was made in light of a request made Sept. 8 by 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney for the School Board to consider converting the old Logan School, 2419 Logan Ave., into a youth center and making the new Logan building, 2400 W. 25th St., a senior citizens center.

The old Logan School is empty and the new Logan building is used for storage.

Ron Landman, the district's director of building and grounds, said the old Logan building is no longer an "ideal education situation" because of its design, age and small size.

The old Logan School has five classrooms, two restrooms and a boiler room, Landman said. The building was last occupied by the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission, he said.

The MCEOC was in the process of renovating the school when the group encountered problems in 1983 and went out of existence, he said.

Both buildings, Landman said, have relatively new roofs; the heating systems were replaced in 1980 and are in good condition. Each building has numerous broken windows and has had interior vandalism, he said.

"It is my opinion that if the district would decide to dispose of a building, this building, old Logan, would be ideal," Landman said.

"I concur with Mr. Landman's thinking and would feel that it is a facility we could sell or lease to someone if they were interested in renovation and maintenance," Walmesley said.

It would cost several thousand dollars to get the new Logan building ready for re-opening, Walmesley said.

"Those costs would probably discourage any citizen group in regard to a lease possibility," he said.

Walmesley said he's talked with government officials in Washington who told him that the construction of 100 housing units at the St. Louis Area Support Center (Army depot) could mean an increase of up to 200 students in the district. Some classes may have to be held in the new Logan School to offset such an expansion of pupils, he said.

The current Prather (Elementary) School complex is near capacity and adding any considerable number of students to that complex would not be appropriate, Walmesley said.

Walmesley thinks the district should not sell the new Logan building, but consider leasing it with the understanding that whoever rents it would be responsible for its renovation and maintenance.

"Also, for us to rent the facility it would mean that we would have to vacate it as a storage area and there would be considerable cost and inconvenience to our staff in making those arrangements."

"I am of the opinion that it is highly unlikely anyone would like to spend the money to re-open the building under the short-term circumstances that might evolve," he said.

The idea to turn the new Logan School into a senior center isn't a dead issue, Partney said. He said he talked to Walmesley who said the building may not be used again for at least 10 years.

If the school re-opens, Partney said, the senior center would likely have been implemented and might have funding available to seek another location.

"I think it's important to get something started that the seniors have control of," he said.

"The township building, the seniors do not have control of. I want to see a place the seniors can run, not be politicians."

In September, Partney suggested the city could buy the old Logan building for $1.

Board Attorney William Schooley said the district can sell the building to the city, or any other governmental entity, without going through the bidding process.

This was done when the old Central Junior High School, 2151 Street and Delmar Avenue, was sold to Granite City Township to make room for construction of the township hall, Schooley said.

This was also done when the former Granite City High School North, 4950 Maryville Road, was sold to the Belleville Area College district to create a college campus, he said.

Partney said use of the two Logan buildings is important because they're located in an area that qualifies for community development funds.

Future of District 9 to be decided Tuesday

The following is a short-term history of School District 9's problems told from the perspective of the editor, Jack C. Ventimiglia.

School District 9 voters will decide Tuesday who will occupy four of the seven Board of Education seats. No matter who is selected, the outcome will mark the future of education in the district for years to come.

The three incumbents — Kelly Hogan, Jo Ann Macios and Dewey Melton — are fighting for their political lives. Many want them re-elected and have contributed time and money to make that happen.

But even in the simple act of raising funds, Macios and Hogan have also raised concern about spending money to pay poll workers in a non-partisan election involving a public office that pays nothing.

The allegation of hirings based on nepotism and cronyism, charges ever-present in any bureaucracy, have grown especially frenzied in District 9 since the days of former Superintendent Max Redmond. As late as Thursday, a bit of credibility was added to the allegation when Melton was quoted in the Belleville News-Democrat as saying, "a good word from a relative or friend helps an applicant to stand out."

The suspicions, the negativism generated in District 9 now and during the past couple of years seem remote from September 1984 when, while working for the Granite City Journal, I edited news stories about the school bond issue.

Children were first on everyone's agenda then, it seemed to me. The teachers, fresh from a strike against the district, put hard feelings aside and pledged their support at a public forum for the $6.6 million bond issue. Shirley Stoll, then and now president of teachers Local 743, said, "We feel that to keep the district viable, and to keep this community viable with a good educational system, the passage of this bond issue to retire the debt accumulated is a sound proposition."

Teacher support was a positive factor, but overwhelming was the public support. Without any political background, and just because he was an interested parent, Mack Johnson spearheaded a campaign to ask voters to financially bail out the district.

With backing from teachers, the debt-ridden School Board, and people like Johnson, the bond issue passed in November 1984 and the district appeared to have recovered from its main problem — lack of money.

In addition to money to make it work, the district also had a reasonably good image in the community. Hogan helped to set the district on that course when he first approached me in early 1985, shortly after the merger of the Press-Record and Journal. He said the newspaper needed a school page and I agreed that the many accomplishments of our Quad-City Area schools deserved a place of their own. Since that conversation, the newspaper has printed pages dedicated to school activities.

"...a good word from a relative or friend helps a candidate to stand out."

on the high school, junior high school and elementary school levels.

The district was in good shape in early 1985, seemingly in control of the good will of the community and the newspaper. But late that year and into January 1986, the first signs of a problem became evident.

The new superintendent, Dr. Max Redmond, wasn't playing the political game some board members wanted him to play. And board member David Partney, for altruistic or political reasons, or maybe a mixture of both, was feeding the newspaper information that supported the premise that at least some hirings were done to grant political favors.

In April 1986, with the paper still not deeply involved in the hiring controversy, an editorial jokingly compared David Partney to the Watergate figure, Deep Throat, because of Partney's reports to the newspaper of what was going on during the board's closed meetings.

The newspaper at that point was of the opinion that perhaps something was wrong, but that if somehow the board had strayed, it would blow over if the board got back on the right path.

The same editorial recorded that a committee of teachers and administrators, supported by Redmond, had determined four persons to be the best qualified for four principal jobs. The board agreed with three, but one applicant seemed to be held up for political reasons. The newspaper advocated what we considered a reasonable position — accepting all four recommendations to remove from everyone's mind the idea that patronage might be involved.

The board didn't have to listen to our friendly recommendation. It didn't. We mildly protested when the board selected someone who wasn't recommended by the committee, or Redmond. We thought that would be the end of the controversy, but we were wrong.

Also during April, we advocated what we considered a modest, cost-saving proposal for the board. I still think it was a good idea because it would have saved taxpayers' money.

At that time the board was in the early stages of a law suit filed by Partney, who said the board was violating the Illinois Open Meetings Act. The board was to use taxpayers' money to fight Partney. Instead, we suggested the board ask the Illinois Attorney General's office for a legal opinion and abide by the decision.

The board didn't take the offer and taxpayers' money was, in my opinion, wasted on a suit that is still in progress and that will, I believe, end up being lost by the district. I see that as a waste of your money and the board's time.

What we viewed as a waste of public money didn't please anyone, nor did the board's decision about hiring the principal. Naturally, we said so on the editorial page. But the episode didn't end there. It only got worse under the Melton-led Board of Education.

In May 1986, under the headline, "They're ignoring the public," we reacted strongly in an editorial to another round of hirings by the board. Again, the board had ignored the hiring recommendations of the committee and Redmond.

Redmond presented the recommendations to the board in open session, embarrassing board members who didn't want it known what the committee had decided. They wanted Redmond to suggest their own choices for jobs. We called the hiring "political voodoo," and I considered it kind terminology.

By that time, some people in the community were angry. Redmond was popular with almost everyone, except board members like Hogan, Melton, Alan Crider and Monroe Worthen. Part of what made Redmond

SOME $235,000 is being paid by taxpayers in School District 9 to the 12 persons listed above. The jobs are filled by persons who are related to politicians, or who were themselves politicians. Some persons might consider the relationships to indicate that, on the part of some hirers, popular was that he wanted to follow the job recommendations of the committee.

When it appeared the board and Redmond were on a collision course, calls sounded for the removal of board members.

If this state had provisions for the recall of school board members, Melton, Hogan and Worthen might not now be on the board. Even people who were strong supporters of the district, like Mack Johnson the tax drive leader, couldn't stand what was being done to Redmond. But the state had no recall provisions and Redmond's head was placed on the block.

In the midst of the growing conflicts involving Redmond and the Melton-led board, and Partney and the board, and the public and the board, and the newspaper and the board, Alan Crider had the gall to apply for a district job while still a member of the board.

Crider had voted earlier in what resulted in the creation of the job opening he wanted. The appearance of a conflict of interest was obvious and we said so without it ever being refuted or denied. In one of the few smart moves made during the period, Crider withdrew his application.

The board could have begun to moderate its stands, but it dug in its heels. The board wanted Redmond out. Citizens wanted him to stay and more than 400 people attended a tea to demonstrate their support for him. Melton asked Redmond to resign.

Nothing, no display of logic or outpouring of opposition to the removal of Redmond could stop the Melton-led board. Rather than coming to terms with Redmond, Melton blamed the newspaper for stirring up "hysteria" and, within days, the Press-Record/Journal was barred from attending the board's closed meetings.

We expected nothing less. The vote to exclude the press was led by Hogan, and supported by the same Alan Crider who'd lost his chance at a district job. Tagging at the rear were Monroe Worthen and Jerry McKeahan.

Though not surprised by the action taken by a reactionary board, we editorialized, "We shall not cease from praying the superintendent should recommend those he believes are most qualified for district jobs. Mr. Hogan."

Through June and into July, Redmond's fate remained doubtful. Board pressure made it impossible for him to stay.

With a great personal sense of loss, for I had come to respect Redmond as a man who was forthright, honest and courageous, I shook Redmond's hand and gave him my best wishes for success in his new job.

Though wanting success also for District 9, I frankly didn't see much hope in it under the same leadership that ousted an honest man. Still, though certainly not seeing anything conciliatory coming from the board, the newspaper praised the choice of Gib Walmsley as Redmond's replacement because we believed he would be a good administrator — something we were right about. A few minor skirmishes concerning the public's welfare occurred between the board and the press, but we were eager to try to keep down the controversy.

Many had stated, quite rightly, that persons outside the community read the newspaper. The concern was that businessmen would read how bad things were going with plants here. Though controversy in the newspaper meant this community was practicing rudimentary democracy, we didn't want to pick on the board unless we felt compelled.

We backed off. But the board didn't. It again began ignoring the public's rights, this time under the leadership of Hogan. The board in closed session discussed what we believe were public matters under the Illinois Open Meetings Act.

For the first time in this newspaper's history, and because we felt we had to protect the public's rights, we filed suit in January to have those private discussions made public.

Overall, however, skirmishes between the board and public were mostly minor in the first half of this year. The board seemed inflexible when members of the football team, proud of their accomplishments during an exciting season, weren't allowed to purchase their jerseys from the school district. We shook our heads at the arguments raised against selling the jerseys.

Another little rift occurred over the graduation policy. The policy kept a boy, who was required to work during graduation practice, from participating in the graduation ceremony. The public seemed particularly disturbed in how the policy was administered, as evidenced by the public's response. Again, we could only shake our heads.

But we did more than wonder when Alan Crider's name again appeared on a list of job candidates. Especially since we got calls that Crider would resign, the resignation would take place at a time when the replacement would not have to run in the November election, that Crider would get a district job, and that politics played a part in their getting jobs. If that is the thinking of some, even if in rare cases, the thinking is correct, it would not necessarily mean the persons hired were not the most qualified for the jobs they received.

Ranney Rich would replace Crider.

We called Jo Ann Macios before the vote occurred and asked her about what we'd heard. On the same night that she voted to replace Crider with Rich, it was stated in the Press-Record that she said she didn't know anything about Rich being chosen to replace Crider. We editorialized that in our opinion, at the very least, Macios was out of touch.

Macios and Hogan, for the November election, are united and running as a party. Macios generated a bit of controversy when she signed ballots that were not only wrong, but that conveniently placed Hogan first and herself second. Candidate Bob Bell said he thought it was done on purpose.

Again, the Hogan-Macios ticket raised controversy, this time by raising a large enough sum of money to offer a share to precinct committeemen. Two precinct committeemen said they wouldn't support the Hogan-Macios-Marty LeVall ticket, though offered more than $100 each to get out the vote.

In a non-partisan race, for a job that pays nothing, to me it is inconceivable that poll workers would be paid to get out support for school board candidates.

In this election, the voters are being asked to consider what the incumbents offer:

They offer involvement in two-law suits that state the board has not been open with the public.

Melton offers that he asked for Redmond's resignation, and Hogan offers that he helped move Redmond out.

Melton and Hogan offer that they couldn't get along with Redmond when he would not recommend persons for jobs who were not first by the committee.

Hogan offers that he excluded the press from closed board meetings.

Macios, Hogan and Melton offer that they gave Crider a job.

Macios offers that she made a mistake in her favor on the ballot.

The Hogan-led board offers that the majority of the public's business is discussed in secret.

The list provides information the voter can consider when going to the polls on Tuesday.

If voting for the incumbents, the public can expect the list to get longer.

If voting for the challengers — Mack Johnson, Paul Ray Bowler, Roy Koberna and Debbie Holt-Wilkerson — we're convinced there won't be any list.

GOP women discuss Nov. 3 board contest

Granite City Republican Women's Club met Oct. 24 at Jerry's Cafeteria to endorse school board candidates.

With President Vernice Walter, presiding, a panel of retired teachers led a discussion about the upcoming Nov. 3 school board election. Members favored the Granite City Press-Record/Journal endorsements of Paul Ray Bowler, Mack Johnson, Roy Koberna and Debbie Holt-Walker.

Emma Schoen led the opening ceremonies. Gladys Pape gave the minutes and the treasurer's report. Funds for the Granite City War Memorial are progressing, and the project will be completed by Nov. 28.

Janet Wilson gave a report on the Madison County Federation of Republican Women's meeting held in Edwardsville. She announced the Second 21st District-Republican Conference was held Oct. 31 at the Collinsville Hilton. The local club will host the annual county meeting in April.

Walter gave a brief account of Lt. Gov. George Ryan's Senior Citizens Legislative Forum Conference that she attended in Springfield. She said Josephine Obinger, director of the Governor's Senior Citizens Involvement office, has challenged all citizens to study laws now on the books and to monitor how they are being enforced.

Ruth Lahr, who spoke up for candidate Mack Johnson, won the early bird prize and Edna Lynn the attendance prize. Any woman interested in good government is invited to attend the club's Nov. 28 luncheon and give thanks for the blessing of this country. For more information, call 876-5748.

Larry Rice benefit Dec. 11

The Area Committee for the Homeless and Hungry will sponsor a banquet in Venice to benefit the Rev. Larry Rice's New Life Evangelistic Center at 7 p.m. Friday, Dec. 11.

Guest speaker will be Associate Judge Ellar Duff Williams of the Third Judicial Circuit. The public is invited to attend the benefit and all proceeds will go to the New Life Evangelistic Center for the Homeless and Hungry, said the Rev. John Henry Williams, committee chairman.

"We all know that Rev. Rice has done an outstanding job in the metropolitan St. Louis area and we know his work is the mission of Jesus Christ, according to the Word of God in Matthew 25: 35-36," said Williams, pastor of New Salem Baptist Church in Venice.

The banquet will take place at the Venice Recreation Center, 305 Broadway, Venice.

Information regarding dinner tickets may be obtained by calling 452-5124 or 451-2423. A $7.50 donation per ticket is being sought.

Checks for tickets should be made payable to "Homeless and Hungry" and mailed to 619 Washington St., Venice, Ill. 62090.

A.O. Smith buying its own stock

MILWAUKEE—A.O. Smith Corp. has announced that the board of directors has approved the repurchase of up to 500,000 shares of Smith common stock. The repurchase plan will begin immediately.

A.O. Smith with its subsidiaries and affiliates, is a diversified manufacturer ranked 311th on the Fortune list of industrial corporations. Its product lines include auto and truck structural components, water heating equipment, fractional horsepower and hermetic electric motors.

The Rev. James Harrell is co-chairman of the Homeless and Hungry Committee and Ruby Johnson is secretary-treasurer, said Williams.

Meeting soon on proposal for health agency

A public meeting is planned in November to better acquaint Madison County Board members and the public with a proposal to establish a county health department.

A task force established by the County Board earlier this year recommended a health department be established.

A resolution to do so was introduced at the October board meeting, but was withdrawn when some board members said they wanted more information.

Board Member Harold Byers, D-Highland, who introduced the resolution, said he would set up the meeting and invite representatives of the task force, the Illinois Department of Public Health and perhaps the director of the St. Clair County Health Department.

Byers said the meeting probably will be scheduled the second or third week of November. Members of the board committee Byers heads include Vasil Efimoff, D-Granite City.

Establishment of a health department is needed to "bring Madison County into the 20th century," said Byers. He said the county is the most populous in the state without its own health department.

The resolution would create a health department under an eight-member board of directors. It would abolish the present tuberculosis sanitarium and board and empower the health department to assume their employees, assets and liabilities.

The resolution would authorize levying of a tax not to exceed 2.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The maximum rate could not be increased except by County Board resolution.

Madison County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields said the 1986 TB sanitarium levy resulted in a tax rate of 1.77 cents. A tentative 1987 levy is expected to result in a rate of about 1.24 cents, he said.

Trustees cancel Nov. 9 meeting

NAMEOKI—The Town Board meeting slated for Monday, Nov. 9, was canceled Oct. 26 by the Board of Trustees.

The meeting was canceled because township officials will be attending the annual educational conference Nov. 8-11 in Springfield sponsored by the Township Officials of Illinois. The next board meeting will be Monday, Nov. 23, at 7 p.m.

Information distributed with the proposed resolution said the establishment of a health department would make the county eligible for significant state funding.

If such a department were in existence, it would have qualified for $883,000 in state funding in fiscal 1987.

A health department can provide services related to food sanitation, potable water supplies, maternal health and family planning, child health, communicable disease control, private sewage disposal, solid waste, nuisance control and chronic diseases.

Byers said a health department would not necessarily take over functions which are already provided by other county departments, but would perform several functions not now offered.

He said a health department would educate and serve the public and help save lives.

Traffic safety essay contest for seniors

"Have new traffic safety laws made Illinois roads safer?" The 10 Illinois high school seniors who best answer that question in the 22nd annual Illinois Editors' Traffic Safety Seminar Essay Contest will win $300 scholarship checks from AAA-Chicago Motor Club.

The Traffic Safety Seminar Contest is a project in which seniors can express their ideas on a topic of immediate importance as well as have the chance to win some assistance for their college attendance," said State Superintendent of Education Ted Sapiers.

The seminar — a not-for-profit traffic safety organization composed of newspaper editors from around the state — sponsors the essay contest to promote traffic safety among young people.

More than 18,000 Illinois high school seniors have submitted essays during the contest's 21-year history. Winners have been awarded more than $105,000 in scholarship funds.

Aldridge

James M. Aldridge, 47, of Mitchell, died of injuries suffered in an accident at the Alton Lock and Dam No. 26 construction site. He was pronounced dead at St. Joseph's Hospital in Alton at 12:01 p.m. Friday, Oct. 30, 1987.

The accident occurred at 10:15 a.m. Friday when an 18-wheel truck backed up and ran over Mr. Aldridge, Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke said.

A member of Operating Engineers Local 520, Mr. Aldridge was an oiler at the lock and dam construction project.

Burke said Mr. Aldridge apparently was taking some photographs of the work site when he was struck by the large vehicle. Many of the workmen have been taking pictures to record progress made on the dam, the county coroner was told.

"There is so much noise there it's almost like being in a tunnel and he probably didn't hear the back-up signals coming from the truck," Burke said. The truck was equipped with the safety signals which apparently were activated at the time of the accident and were checked immediately afterward, she said.

Investigators from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration were expected at the work site Saturday to conduct an investigation, Burke said.

Born in East St. Louis, Mr. Aldridge resided most of his life in the Granite City area. He was a member of Masonic Lodge 877.

Among the survivors are his wife, Mrs. Judy (Boeckel) Aldridge; a son, James Timothy Aldridge; a daughter, Mrs. Kenneth (Elizabeth) Fahrner; Granite City, his mother, Mrs. Betty Aldridge; Millstadt, a sister, Mrs. Paul (Sarah) Grotz; Millstadt, and two grandchildren.

Delay on energy aid

Nelson Hagnauer, Madison County Board chairman, has been informed by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) that the Illinois Home Energy Assistance Program (IHEAP) could not begin Nov. 1, as it had in past years.

The delay in starting the IHEAP program this year is due to the fact that the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services has not yet signed the federal grant application agreement with DCCA. The U.S. House and Senate have been trying to agree on the funding total.

Madison County, along with all other local administering agencies in the state, may not start the IHEAP program until the department has a signed agreement.

Madison County received designation as the local administering agency to serve Madison County residents for the 1988 IHEAP program from DCCA on Sept. 18.

However, this designation does not permit the county to take IHEAP applications from eligible households prior to the federal government signing an agreement with DCCA.

At this time, the county is not in a position to give a specific date as to when the IHEAP program will begin, Hagnauer said.

Upon further notice from DCCA, the county will issue an immediate news release as to when and where IHEAP applications will be accepted.

Application is made to FCC for an FM station

WASHINGTON — Collinsville may get a new FM radio station, according to documents on file with the Federal Communications Commission.

A group identified as Bethalto Communications has petitioned the FCC for a station in the Collinsville area. Thomas Root, a Washington attorney, filed the petition for the group.

Kent Scheffel, general manager of the new AM station, WRTT, scheduled to go on the air in October, confirmed that the backers of the FM station are the applicants for the FM station.

If approved, the petition would allow for the establishment of an FM station but would not guarantee that Bethalto Communications would be the operator.

Root said. If the FCC approves the request for a station in Collinsville, the agency must take applications from any company or individual in the country interested in operating the station.

Root said the investors anticipate possible competition for the station. But Root said he expects little opposition to the petition to locate the station in Collinsville, noting the deadline for filing comments on the proposal has passed.

"At this point it looks pretty clear," Root said. "I think it will go."

Root said the group had originally petitioned the FCC to locate the station in Bethalto, near Alton, hence the name Bethalto Communications.

Granite City celebrates two regional titles

Soccer team smothers Phillips, CM in triumph

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Gene Baker claims he has lost count, but maybe he just didn't want to think of the unlucky number 13 so close to Halloween.

Baker took his 13th regional championship in 15 years on Thursday as his Warriors totally shut down high-scoring Clint Phillips and the Civic Memorial Eagles 4-0 at the Gauntlet. The win not only raised Granite City's record to 15-3-2, but it sent the team into the Granite City Sectional, where it will make a bid for its 10th trip to the state tournament in Baker's tenure.

"We denied Phillips the ball all night, which was our objective," Baker said of the Eagles' 27-goal scorer. "Ball possession was to be the theme."

It was a theme played over and over as Granite City had the ball almost all night. The Warriors outshot CM 23-4 and had nine corner kicks to none for the Eagles, who finished the season at 15-3-2.

"They kept the pressure on us all night," said CM coach Don Wolfelt. "They just wouldn't let Phillips get the ball where he could hurt them. We played a little tight at the start of the game, but there's no question they are a little better than we are."

For all of the Warriors' apparent dominance, the game was scoreless at halftime as Granite City failed to finish off several chances.

FOR TAMMY LEVAULT and the Warrior volleyball team, Thursday's win over Edwardsville was a dream come true as Granite City rolled into its own sectional this week with a 22-6 record.

Volleyball team downs Edwardsville in classic

By Gary King
Correspondent

EDWARDSVILLE — After the war had ended and the white flag had been raised, Warrior volleyball co-captain Wendy Knollman flashed a smile that stretched clear from Joe Lucco Gymnasium back to Granite City.

"No sweat at all," Knollman said in complete sincerity. "We knew this was it. Win it or we were out of it. Well, we're not out of it."

Indeed they are not. With backs squarely against the wall Thursday, the Granite City volleyball team did what it has done best this season. They met the challenge, eyeballed it and didn't flinch.

And as a result of their 15-11, 16-14 win over Edwardsville in the finals of the Edwardsville Regional, the Lady Warriors (22-6) will live to see another challenge.

The Warriors will now host Belleville West on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Granite City Sectional, East St. Louis and Civic Memorial will play the first match at 6:30 p.m.

Warrior coach Don Deterding could hardly see that far ahead. He chose, simply, to bask in the moment.

"We both went at each other, and neither team backed down or gave in," Deterding said. "This was a very nerve-wracking ordeal to say the least, but it was very worthwhile for us."

To say Granite City did not exactly cakewalk the sectional berth would qualify as a gross understatement.

Truth be told, the Warriors were forced to call on all their resources in defeating the Tigers, who entered the match with a hefty 22-4 mark.

Kahoks ousted

The Collinsville Kahoks will not be standing in the Warriors' way as Granite City makes its bid for trip to the state soccer tournament.

The defending state champions were shocked on their home field by O'Fallon on penalty kicks in a regional championship game on Thursday. The Panthers (14-4-1) tied the game with 20 seconds left in regulation play before the teams battled through four five-minute overtime periods without a goal.

Joe Reinger, who had both Collinsville goals and finished with 24 goals this year, was stopped on a penalty kick and Kris Huels converted a penalty kick to decide the game for O'Fallon. The Panthers had upset Edwardsville 4-1 on Tuesday.

In Saturday's sectional semifinal action at SIUE, the Warriors (15-3-2) faced Decatur Eisenhower (16-2-1) in the 11 a.m. game, while O'Fallon faced Belleville East (17-4-1) in the 1 p.m. game. The winners meet Tuesday at SIUE beginning at 7 p.m.

Eisenhower defeated Taylorville 4-2 to win its regional on Thursday. Todd Brown had three goals for the Panthers. Belleville East topped Belleville Albion 1-0 on a goal by David Boyer early in the second half as all-state goalkeeper Mike Girard got the shutout.

Gridders take one final beating

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — At least the Warrior football team ended the season with a touchdown.

Terry Stanley scored on a one-yard run as time expired, but that was about the only bright spot on Friday as Belleville East rolled to a surprising easy 34-6 win to ensure a last-place finish in the Southwestern Conference for the Warriors. Granite City finished 4-14 in the league and 2-7 overall.

The Lancers finished 2-3 and 2-6. "It was the best game we played all year," said Lancer coach Mike McGinnis. "It's a nice way to end the season."

It wasn't very nice for a very depressed Ron Yates. Not only did the Warriors lose often this year, but they lost convincingly on most occasions. They were outscored 226-50 on the year and scored only seven touchdowns.

"We couldn't feel any intensity all year," Yates said. "I knew we didn't have real good football players, but I thought we would be tougher than this."

The Warriors got the first big break when a snap went over Lancer punter Mike Schwarz's head and Granite City had a first and goal at the 2. But Joe Wallace fumbled the first snap and the Lancers escaped trouble.

That was it as the Lancers used the running of Josh Bovinette (20 carries for 115 yards) and Todd Seelman (11 for 99) to set up a three-yard touchdown run by quarterback Forry Wells on the first play of the second quarter. Jeff Kohler miled the ensuing kickoff and East recovered.

ered - Wells kept and went 12 yards for his second touchdown in 15 seconds.

The Lancers went 67 yards in nine plays on their next drive as Bovinette went four yards for the score with 4:59 left in the half. A 39-yard run by Seelman put the Lancers in position for Seelman's one-yard run two minutes into the second half and Wells passed five yards to Eric Vernier for a final score late in the quarter.

Wallace was injured in the third quarter and freshman Bob Thomas played the fourth quarter. He collected three passes but threw two interceptions as the Warriors turned the ball over five times altogether.

With less than a minute left, Brian Dix blocked a punt and Marvin Weber recovered and returned the ball to the Lancer 17. Thomas completed a 15-yarder to Dix and the Warriors were faced with a fourth and goal at the 1 with two seconds left. Stanley barged in as the season ended.

"It would have helped to score that touchdown when we got the ball at the 2 in the first quarter," Yates said. "But they would have come back to win the game anyway. McGinnis said it was the best game they have had all year, but we have had a tendency to make some teams look real good."

NOTES: Junior fullback George Thomas ran hard and had 38 yards in four carries. The Warriors tallied 110 yards rushing and 58 passing. East had 272 yards on the ground and 59 in the air. Wells, a 6-3 junior, showed good running ability and a strong arm. The Lancers had 16 first downs to five for Granite City. The Warriors were penalized 10 times for 84 yards and East was flagged eight times for 90 yards.

good situations.

"We're still not talking to one another like we should," Baker said. "One player has to know what the other is doing."

But the Warriors came out smelling the regional championship in the second half and Vince Darnell supplied the only goal they would really need just 49 seconds into the third quarter. Dan Wilson brought the ball in from the right wing and centered it to the goalmouth. Darnell made one shot that was blocked, then flipped the rebound into the top of the net for his fifth goal of the year.

"If Vince goes with his right foot he scores five seconds sooner," Baker said. "But he is playing with a broken nose and he's a player we need to have out there."

Going for the kill, Herb Heaton drilled a free kick from 20 yards out at 43:33 past CM keeper Scott Smith for his fifth of the year.

"We thought we were still in it at halftime," Wolfel said. "But the first six minutes of the second half killed us. They got a couple of goals off of still balls to decide the game."

The Warriors scored on another restart at 51:15 when Mike Sellers' free kick from the left side was converted by John Van Buskirk on a flick-on header with his back facing the goal. The goal was Van Buskirk's second.

Matt Krekovich's only anxious moment came when he juggled a long shot, then had to dive to smother Mike Wilson's rebound late in the quarter. Randy Chapman played the fourth quarter in goal as many of the Warrior reserves saw action. Chris Nolan got his first varsity goal with 40 seconds left on a pass from Bob Strubberg.

"The younger players did well," Baker said. "And we got good leadership from Mike Lane at the sweeper position."

Lane played in place of the injured Jeff Grote. Grote was named to the all-state team this week along with Madison's Jerry Gushleff, a 35-goal scorer. Troy Adamitis was an all-sectional selection for Southern Illinois. Baker also gave high marks to Sellers and Van Buskirk. He hoped he could rest Grote again on Saturday and have him ready for the sectional title game on Tuesday.

"I don't think we quit," Wolfel said. "The fourth quarter was our best of the game. I'm very pleased with the year we had. We just ran into a great team down here. I think Granite City will have the edge in the sectional."

their resources responded.

After taking a 7-6 lead in the first game of the match, the Warriors catapulted to a 10-6 lead on a serve by Knollman and successive points by Michelle Jeffries and Lisa Mills.

Edwardsville cut the deficit to 12-10 before a Knollman serve and a Tammy Paul slam gave Granite City all the breathing room it needed to secure the first half of its mission. LeVault also referred to the Warriors' first-game win as a point of no return.

"After we won the first one, we knew we could do it," the senior co-captain said. "We knew we had to have that regional plaque to get another shot at (Belleville) West."

And while the Warriors also faced Tiger blitz after Tiger blitz in the second game, they simply could not be denied.

Granite City found itself on the short end of a four-point outburst early in the match before a Knollman spike gave the Warriors their first tally of the game.

A point by Beth Earney eventually knotted the score at 7-7, but the Tigers quickly reassured an 11-4 edge.

Still no sweat, Knollman said. "We have proved all year that we are a team that can come back, so we weren't about to give up now," she said.

"Two near-perfect serves" by Lisa Kull, another powerful spike by Knollman, and quickly the score was tied 11-11.

The stalemate took the score up to 14-14 before LeVault and Knollman and Earney wrestled the regional trophy from the Tigers' grasp with a pair of strong returns to preserve the win.

"They passed better than we did, but we beat them with our power game," Deterring said. "Take away our power hitters, and (Edwardsville) wins."

Not surprisingly, the challenge was one the Lady Warriors enjoyed.

"It was a fun game for us," Knollman said. "We all enjoyed it. Now we just want West."

Trojans finish 8-5-2

The Trojan soccer team finished its year on a high note with a consolation championship in the Crossroads Tournament in St. Louis.

Madison lost 1-0 to Lutheran North on Monday, but came back to beat Whitfield (No. 2) in the second round on Wednesday.

The Trojans got a forfeit win over Soldan on Thursday to take the consolation title and finish the season at 8-5-2. It was the team's first winning season ever and the Trojans won their first Mid-South Conference title with a 6-0-2 league mark.

The Trojans lost 3-1 to Alton Marquette in the regionals on Oct. 24 but were able to go out with a win by virtue of playing in the tournament. In the win over Whitfield, Jerry Gushleff got his 35th goal of the year and Clarence Williams scored on a penalty kick.

Gushleff was named to the all-state team this week. He is the first Trojan ever named to the all-state team.

IN VOLLEYBALL ACTION, the Madison Trojans defeated Venice in the first round of the Freeburg Class A Regional on Wednesday, but Columbia topped Madison on Thursday to earn a match against Freeburg for the regional championship.

SMOKEY THE BEAR, portrayed by Herb Schaffner, visits with several pupils of Marshall Elementary School.

Smokey Bear program presented

GRANITE CITY — In conjunction with Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 4-10, the Illinois Department of Conservation, Division of Forestry, presented the Smokey Bear program to kindergarten and first and second grade students at Marshall Elementary School.

Steve Springer and Herb Schaffner represented the forestry division. Springer showed students a movie entitled "Smokey the Bear" and discussed fire safety. He stressed the importance of being careful with every fire and never playing with matches.

He also explained Smokey's famous message, "Remember, only you can prevent forest fires." Schaffner was dressed in a Smokey the Bear costume and greeted every pupil. All children were given Smokey the Bear buttons, comic books and song sheets.

Parent-teacher conferences set

GRANITE CITY — On Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 4-5, parent-teacher conferences to review the progress of high school students will be held at Granite City High School, 3101 Madison Ave. Classes will not be in session these days, said Principal Ken Spalding.

Conferences will be held from 8 to 11:30 a.m. and from 12:30 to 3 p.m. Nov. 4. A teachers' lunch period will be held from 11:30 to 12:30 p.m.

On Nov. 5, conferences will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. and from 5 to 8 p.m. A teachers' dinner will be from 4 to 5 p.m.

Conferences should be limited to 10 minutes, and no students should be present. Spalding said. Parents will also be able to pick up their child's report card in the auditorium.

Accountant says BAC does well with money

Belleville Area College has done a good job of controlling expenditures, but has a problem with declining revenues, auditor Robert Moore said in a report to BAC trustees Oct. 21.

Moore said the district spent $700,000 more than it took in revenue in the fiscal year ending June 30. The deficit spending reduced the district's fund balance to $1.2 million.

Moore, a partner with the Belleville accounting firm of Becherer, Boellinger, Moore & Renner, said BAC had done a good job of controlling expenditures. State law mandates an outside accounting firm review college books annually.

The auditing report also:

• Praised the staff of the business office, but expressed concern that the staffing level was too low.

• Advised the college it could transfer to the building fund a $70,000 residue left in a bond and interest account.

Chancellor Bruce Wissore said proposed expenditures are being reviewed weekly by a committee of his staff and faculty representatives. Cuts are being made wherever possible in an attempt to bring the budget back into balance this year.

In other action, the trustees approved a two-year contract with Service Employees Union Local 116. The contract covers four maintenance employees.
